Wurzbach Introduces Measure To Prevent Use of Improper Methods in Obtaining Offices.

EVIL IS GROWING, WILSON DECLARES

Representative Asserts G. O. P. "Went Back To Stealing" Under "Back To Normalcy" Cry.

(By Leased Wire To The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, March 22.—Conditions prevailing post-civil war carpet-bagging days, and under which negroes are in absolute control of federal patronage, were charged to the republican party by Representative Wilson, democrat, of Mississippi, in the house today, when he urged adoption of his resolution seeking an investigation into alleged fraud and corruption in the sale of postmasterhips to and by negroes in Mississippi.

Mr. Wilson's charges followed introduction of a bill by Representative Wurzbach, republican, of Texas, compelling federal appointees to file within 30 days after their appointment affidavits that they have made no contributions to campaign funds in the hope of securing a place on the federal payroll. A few weeks ago Mr. Wurzbach scored the Texas state republican committee for its distribution of patronage, and hinted that an investigation was warranted.

"Back to Stealing."

Reviewing a long list of republican scandals from the civil war down to the Daugherty scandal in the Harding administration, Mr. Wilson declared that the "back to normalcy" slogan of the republican party in 1920 meant "back to stealing again."

"And in my state today," he said, "there exists a condition which has no parallel in the history of my southland since the dark days which followed the civil war. Not only are federal positions sold in the open market today to the highest bidder, but the control of federal patronage is almost entirely in the hands of negroes."

"My people will not submit to negro domination. We beg of this administration, in the name of a reunited country, not to force this condition upon our state. We do not want it. We will not permit it. If my people can't get protection from our government, we will, please God, protect ourselves."

"War of Principles."

"Yes, there will be another war. Not of swords, but of principles; not of arms, but of ideals of government. And it will be a war to the bitter end. The wounds inflicted during the days of the civil war are still fresh. The common sacrifices upon a foreign soil where northern and southern blood was spilled in a common cause brought together forever the estranged hearts of my countrymen. Now will you, who are in power, seek to rip open the wounds again and to pour into them the salt of disregard and unkindness in a few months which it took long years to wipe away?"

'HOME BEAUTIFUL' WORK NEARS END

Residence at 44 Wakefield Drive in Brookwood Hills Will Be One of Most Pleasing Exhibits.

With only five days left, "Home Beautiful" workers are nearing the end of their labors on preparations for the opening next Sunday of the third annual exhibit, which will be sponsored by The Constitution and cooperating merchants.

Among the nine exhibits that will be offered—units in Avondale Estates, Brookwood Hills, Druid Hills, Garden Hills and Morningside—one of the most pleasing will be that at 44 Wakefield drive in Brookwood Hills.

44 Brookwood drive in Brookwood Hills presents an English type of home. The visitor enters into a large living room. The dining room is on the right of the living room and back of the latter is the library. There is a breakfast room and kitchen also on the first floor, and four bedrooms and two baths on the second floor. The house is to be furnished with draperies, furniture and floor covering by Stephen Philibosian, Inc., and cooperating with this firm is Maier & Berkele, who will provide silverware, binder and company, pictures; J. B. Fuller, company, linens; and the Georgia Railway and Power company, electrical equipment.

In the living room draperies will be of imported silk damask in colors of mulberry, green, blue and gold. Hand-blocked linen is to be used in the dining room for draperies.

Views of Houghton Scored in Senate; Assailed in Europe

GERMANY IS URGED TO RECALL LEAGUE MEMBERSHIP BID

Gloomy Report on European Conditions Given By Houghton Is Basis of Arguments.

DISARMAMENT PLAN DECLARED DOOMED

Nationalists Lack Confidence in German Cabinet and in League, Says Spokesman.

BY ERIC KEYSER.

Berlin, March 22.—Reichstag nationalists, quoting the alleged gloomy report on European conditions given President Coolidge by Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton, are fighting bitterly Monday against continuance of Germany's application for league membership.

Contending that the American ambassador to the court of St. James had admitted the impossibility of disarmament moves succeeding in Europe at present, opposition leaders declared their lack of confidence in the ambitions of the league. Count Westarp, nationalist leader, said that Germany could not be a member of the league on an equal footing with other members until universal disarmament had been achieved. He declared that German nationalists lacked confidence in the Berlin cabinet as well as in the League of Nations.

Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States prior to American entrance into the world war, defended the league against its attackers. Regarding the Houghton report Bernstorff said that the ambassador intended to strengthen Great Britain against French imperialism.

War Unlikely.

"Great Britain and the United States are the two powers in the world least likely to go to war against each other," declared Bernstorff.

The battle of words over the Houghton report ended a day of apparently futile fighting by nationalists against German entry into the league. When the reichstag adjourned until Tuesday it was generally predicted that the work of Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann at Geneva would receive a vote of confidence.

Pro-league members of the diet agreed that Germany would never enter the Geneva body "at any price," but they reiterated their belief that Berlin would be represented in accordance with the Locarno promises by September.

A number of foreign diplomats were in the diplomatic loges when the nationalists spoke.

Suave Bandits Rob Customer In Drug Store

Polite Trio Lock Manager In Room and Get $30.

Another daring robbery was added Monday night to the series perpetrated by a trio of polite youths during the past week, when H. Rudich, manager of a drug store at 50 East Georgia avenue, was locked in a small room and the cash register rifled of $30 in small change.

While two of the bandits waited in the room with the manager, a third carefully went about robbing the place. A customer entered at this time and asked for a soft drink and was waited upon by the bandit, who took the nickel, dropped it into his pocket and nonchalantly went about completing the robbery as his customer strolled into the street.

The powerful motor car which the three youths have used in a series of daring and successful robberies and holdups over the past week, was used in Monday night's escape after the robbers were neatly dressed, seen standing with motor softly purring in front of the place by passers-by, was identified as the same car which the boys have used on previous holdup activities.

Detectives McGee and Satterfield investigated and were furnished descriptions of the three youths and the car. Officers were told by Rudich that the robbers were neatly dressed, very polite and went about their business in the same deliberate and collected fashion which has characterized other robberies in which they are believed to have participated recently.

BOND SUCCESS BELIEVED SURE ON EVE OF VOTE

Intimations Are Given That Ambassador to England Would Do Well To Resign Position.

SECRET DIPLOMACY IS HIT BY HARRISON

Bitter Resentment Toward America Is Surging Up in France—Press Expresses Indignation.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, March 22.—The international sensation stirred up by the newspaper airing of Ambassador Houghton's views on Europe has spread into the senate, provoked annoyance in the state department and has even led to intimations that the ambassador to London might well retire to private life.

Senator Harrison, democrat, declared that the administration has gone back to "dark lantern diplomacy," stirring up strife in Europe by means of anonymous newspaper propaganda, and demanded to know whether Houghton's pessimistic views on Europe are those of the administration and if not, why they are not directly repudiated.

Says He Told Truth.

Fess, Ohio, republican, declared Houghton told the truth about Europe when he said that the powers have gone back to the old balance of power. Fess said he had talked to Houghton and that his views did not differ materially from those recently printed in the newspapers.

"What right has he to stir up trouble?"

Mammoth Demonstration To Arouse Bond Sentiment Will Be Staged in March Through City.

LEADERS APPEAL TO ALL CITIZENS

"Growth and Leadership of City Hinges on Result," Say Last-Hour Messages of Leaders.

Confident of success of the proposed $8,000,000 city bond issue and spurred on by having at their command the largest force of workers ever aligned behind any similar proposition in the history of Atlanta, leaders of the great civic improvement movement Monday night worked feverishly perfecting plans to loose an organized corps of supporters at the polls Wednesday.

So thoroughly has the bond campaign committee been organized under leadership of Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, chairman, and Fred B. Wilson, chairman of the executive committee, that speakers Monday appeared before several large audiences, while details of the election-day offensive were worked out by E. I. Coolidge, secretary in charge of the campaign in behalf of the bonds.

"Every loyal Atlantan from Mayor Walter A. Sims to the humblest citizen has been enlisted in the army to assure ratification of the bond plan when voters of the city begin their invincible march to the polls in behalf of progress and prosperity Wednesday," Mr. Coolidge declared.

"One of the biggest demonstrations of public interest in the bond plan has been the response to the appeal for a city hall fund-raising drive," Mr. Coolidge said.

Ex-Mayor Robert F. Maddox Makes Ringing Appeal for City Bond Issue

To The People of Atlanta: The bond issue to be presented to the people of Atlanta in the election to be held on Wednesday, March 24th, is the most important upon which they have had an opportunity to vote for many years.

The result of this election will have a most important bearing upon Atlanta's future growth and prosperity. A city is like any other important business enterprise. If it expects to grow it must provide the means and machinery with which to supply the needs of its patrons. If unable to do this, it will not only lose new business which it should receive but also lose some of its old customers. However, unlike other large corporations a city is not operated at a profit and therefore cannot accumulate from its surplus earnings the means with which to enlarge its plant facilities.

It therefore, in order to provide permanent improvements and meet the demands of its people for service, must either provide this equipment by increased taxation, or by the issuing of bonds.

Having been more or less familiar with the operation of our city government for more than a quarter of a century, I believe the people have secured a fair return for their taxes, and the proceeds of the bonds which have been issued have been wisely and honestly invested.

The first consideration which presents itself to the business man is the present financial status of the city, that is—its assets and liabilities, and whether or not it has ample assets upon which to issue additional bonds.

The assessed valuation of real and personal property in the city of Atlanta is $355,000,000. Its bond issuing ability being limited to 7 per cent is therefore approximately $25,000,000.

I am informed by the city comptroller that the net bonded indebtedness of the city of Atlanta today is less than $9,000,000. The city therefore, has an additional bond issue of $16,000,000.

The proposed bond issue of $8,000,000 will be only about one-half of the total bonds the city can issue under the very restricted limitation of 7 per cent of its assessed property.

Leaving out the power of taxation upon the large amount of real and personal property aggregating $355,000,000, the city has assets which its owns in fee simple amounting to many millions of dollars.

The water works alone, for instance, are carried on the books of the city at more than enough to liquidate the entire outstanding bonds of Atlanta.

In addition to this valuable asset, the city is carrying upon its books nearly $8,000,000 as the value of real estate and buildings in its public school system. The city also owns nearly $3,000,000 of valuable real estate composed of its system of parks and playgrounds. It also owns property valued at more than $1,000,000, including its buildings and real estate in its fire department.

Many other valuable assets are owned by the city, including Grady hospital, cemeteries, city hall, which it is estimated is worth approximately $1,000,000, the auditorium and armory and other assets which might be mentioned.

From all of which it will be apparent that the city could borrow upon its own assets today as much as the existing bonds and the proposed issue together would amount to, without being compelled to rely in any way upon its taxable power on the property of its citizens.

During my administration as mayor of Atlanta, the first large and comprehensive issue of bonds was proposed in February, 1910. Realizing the importance of Atlanta's keeping step with the progress other cities were making a bond issue of $3,000,000 was proposed, of which $1,300,000 was for the development of its sewer system; $900,000 for the improvement of its water works; $600,000 for the enlargement of its school system; $100,000 for an addition to Grady hospital and $50,000 for the erection of a crematory.

At that time the Atlanta spirit prevailed in a splendid way. All classes of our people were interested in the city's welfare. At that time the law required that two-thirds of the registered voters should vote in favor of bonds, before they could be legally issued.

The importance of this issue was so generally recognized and the people were so united in carrying the city progressively forward that with a registration of 10,568, 8,475 votes were cast in favor of the bonds and only 66 votes were against them.

It was the most enthusiastic demonstration of a united people that was ever witnessed in this city up to that time and I believe it can be truthfully stated that this bond issue did much to promote Atlanta's progress.

At that time the city's population was only about 140,000. The previous year the city limits had been increased from 12 1/2 to 26 square miles.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES VITAL STATISTICS LAW

Constitutional Amendment Proposes To Provide Funds for Payments To County Registrars.

CLASSIFICATION TAX CUT OPPOSED

Hearing Scheduled for Today; Fulton School Tax Measure Is Given Approval.

A constitutional amendment to provide payment to county registrars for gathering vital statistics was approved Monday by the house committee on constitutional amendments.

The measure will receive its second reading in the house this morning.

Other action of the committee included referring of all bills dealing with proposed state road bonds to the special subcommittee on road bonds, and approval of a local bill affecting only Fulton and DeKalb counties, to permit the county boards of education to levy a one-mill tax for educational purposes on all property in the county, whether included in independent school systems or not. ## AUTOISTS WITH OLD TAGS FACE ARREST BY POLICE TODAY

Arrest of hundreds of Atlantans who have not obtained automobile license tags for 1926, was seen Monday following orders given by Sheriff James I. Lowry, County Police Chief George Mathieson and Acting City Police Chief E. L. Jett, directing their men to arrest the delinquents.

The extended period of grace expired Saturday and, it is estimated, approximately 4,500 Atlanta automobile owners have failed to comply with the state law.

To procure a tag now it is necessary to pay a penalty fee of $1 to the sheriff of Fulton county or a fine of $25 if an arrest is made, according to the sheriff.

Limitations of the fixture in the past, offering financial burdens which discouraged young and obscure professionals, have been overcome in the new plan.

HEPBURN IS TOLD TO REVISE OFFER FOR SHOALS LEASE

Messages Sent by Committee to 18 Prospective Bidders in All Sections of U. S.

BELL AND HOOKER TO DESCRIBE BIDS

C. E. Graff Will Reach Washington Thursday—Needs of Farmers Will Be Stressed Today.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Terms of a proposed bid to operate Muscle Shoals by a private corporation under government supervision were discussed today by Frederick T. Hephburn, president of Wallbridge & Co., New York, investment bankers, with the joint congressional committee conducting negotiations to lease the property.

Under his bid the corporation would pay an annual rental of $2,000,000 after the first year for a lease for 50 years on the entire property. During the first year it would pay 10 per cent of the income from the power. Operations would be divided between fertilizer and chemical production and power distribution.

The committee informed him that it must confine its consideration to proposals equal to or better than the offer of Henry Ford for lease of the property and asked him to study his plan and resubmit it.

Without saying whether he would do so, Mr. Hephburn withdrew and took the copy of his proposal with him.

Workingmen Discuss Plans.

J. W. Worthington, of Washington and formerly of Alabama, appeared again today before the committee and discussed various plans for the development of Muscle Shoals. He told the committee he did not represent anyone, was interested in the Alabama property purely from a development standpoint, and was opposed to government operation. He declared he never had represented Henry Ford, the American Cyanamide company or any other bidders and never had received any pay for his services in connection with proposed Muscle Shoals legislation.

The committee set aside next Monday to hear W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamide company, who will discuss proposed terms of a bid the company is willing to offer. E. F. Price, of the Union Carbide company, also informed the committee he would appear as soon as possible to discuss a bid.

Hooker Will Appear.

Elton H. Hooker, of New York, who last year had a bid known as the Hooker-White-Atterbury proposal to operate Muscle Shoals in partnership with the American Cyanamide company, will discuss his proposal today before the committee. C. E. Graff, of the American Nitrogen Products company, Seattle, Wash., also informed the committee he would reach Washington Thursday.

Tomorrow representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange and the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union will testify regarding the needs of fertilizer for farmers. Major Burns, of the ordnance department of the army, will discuss the manufacture of nitrogen from an ammonium standpoint.

Replies have been received from all former bidders except the Alabama Power company, who were advised by telegraph that the committee was ready to receive bids.

The company now is distributing power from Muscle Shoals, however.

ATLANTA WOMAN'S CLUB WILL OPPOSE DRY LAW CHANGES

Resolutions protesting passage of bills now pending in the United States senate which would modify the Volstead law were adopted Monday afternoon at a short meeting of the Woman's club prior to presentation of a play by students of the Tallulah Falls school.

The measure, offered by Mrs. George Ober, chairman of the resolutions committee, "deplored even the suggestion of reestablishment of the saloon, or modification of the Volstead law."

Any changes in the eighteenth amendment to the constitution also is opposed in the resolutions which place the Woman's club on record as protesting any efforts to modify or to break down existing prohibition laws of the nation.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, president, presided at the meeting, introducing Miss Ann Carrington Davis, principal of the Tallulah school, and other visitors. Mrs. Sharp's name headed the list of signers of the resolutions bearing on the Volstead law modification matter.

Other names attached were Mrs. Ober, Mrs. John R. Hornady and Mrs. D. F. Stevenson.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL

Coggeshall and McClelland Slated to Die in Chair Thursday for Wright Slaying.

COUNSEL CONFERS WITH GOVERNOR

Walker Prepared to Hear Last Plea for Commutation When Prison Commission Acts.

Hearing on a petition for commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence imposed upon Ted L. Coggeshall, of Clayton, Ill., and Floyd W. McClelland, of Union City, Pa., Wright, superintendent of schools of Putnam county, is set for 11 o'clock this morning before the Georgia prison commission.

The youths are under sentence to die in the electric chair at Milledgeville Thursday. The state supreme court Monday morning declined to issue a mandamus absolute against Judge James B. Park, of the Ocmulgee circuit, to compel him to sign an extraordinary motion for new trial filed by counsel for the condemned men.

A rule nisi was issued last week by the court, ordering Judge Park to show reason why he should not sign this motion by Monday. It was understood that a written opinion on the decision handed down Monday probably will be returned by the supreme court today.

William Schley Howard, attorney for the youths, will exhaust every legal means to save their lives, he stated Monday. He was closeted with Governor Clifford Walker for some time Monday afternoon. The governor stated later that he expected to hold a commutation hearing immediately after the prison commission had made its recommendations in the case. Pending action of that body he had no definite announcement to make.

Associated Press dispatches from Macon stated that the two condemned youths had been removed to the state prison farm at Milledgeville, Monday, following the action of the supreme court. Under the law, condemned prisoners must be taken to the prison at least 24 hours prior to the day set for their death.

Governor Last Hope.

Commutation of sentences by the governor is the only hope for life now left to the two men. The petition before the prison commission and governor contains affidavits purporting to corroborate contention of the pair that they were in another part of the state at the time the crime was committed.

Professor Wright was beaten to death by three young men, he had

Students Return From World Trip Of 40,000 Miles

Sylvania, Ga., March 22.—(Special.)—Wensley Hobby, son of W. M. Hobby, editor of the Sylvania Telephone, returned home Saturday night from a six months' trip around the world which he took in company with his schoolmate, Joe Mahoney, of Dublin.

The two boys had been attending college at Georgia and decided last fall that they would finish up their education with a personal study of the geography of the earth. Funds for the trip were lacking but they were fortunate in securing jobs on a large freight steamer, the Patrick Henry, and left from New Orleans last October.

Their trip included the Panama canal, Honolulu, Japan, China, the Philippine Islands, the South Sea Islands, Singapore and other ports in the Malay peninsula, Egypt, the Suez canal, Spain and then to New York. When they both got home Saturday they had been around the world and then some, having traveled about 40,000 miles.

The committee will meet at 3 o'clock in the park department at city hall.

Alderman Ford's proposal, embodied in a resolution of city council this month, for building a baseball diamond in Lakewood park, will be considered among other plans for improvement.

ORATORY CONTEST AROUSING INTEREST

Students at Athens High school are confidently expecting their institution to be represented through many of the elimination contests in the international oratorical contest which is being sponsored in Georgia by The Constitution and which offers the possibility of a free trip to Europe for some fortunate high-school boy or girl from this state.

With approximately seventy entrants when the contest first started, Athens High has now narrowed the contest for its own champion orator to four, and according to a report received Monday from Claude Basham, correspondent for that school, this quartet has completed the writing of their orations and are now hard at work in perfecting delivery.

The contest, which is conducted simultaneously in the United States and other countries, is so far as America is concerned, for the purpose of discovering the seven best high-school orators in the country. Each of these seven will be given a free and extended trip to Europe this summer.

The country has been divided into seven zones, and the champion of each zone will secure one of the European trips. Georgia is included in the zone with headquarters at Kansas City, and the final contest to decide the zone winner will be held there on May 14.

There will be one contestant from each state in the zone, the Georgia champion to be chosen at a state contest between the 12 winners in the district contests, to be held at Atlanta on May 10 to the winner of first and second places. The Constitution offers prizes of $100 and $20, while a $125 scholarship at Draughton's business college will be given the winner, with $50 credit on such a scholarship for the district winners.

The Constitution will also give cash prizes of $15 to each of the district winners. District contests are to be held on different dates in April, participated in by the winners of the local contests in the different high schools of the state.

The preliminary school contest at Marietta High will be held next Tuesday, one week from today, it was announced yesterday by Sybil Cowart, correspondent from that school. There will be eight contestants, and Miss Cowart writes, "as the time draws nearer for the contest everyone works harder."

DR. THOMAS GREEN, RED CROSS WORKER, WILL SPEAK HERE

Dr. Green is on a tour of the south speaking in the interest of the national and international peace time program of the Red Cross society.

The first of Dr. Green's talks will be given at 10 o'clock Thursday at the Decatur High school and he will speak again at 12:30 o'clock at the Decatur Presbyterian church.

Dr. Green will speak to the seniors of the three Atlanta high schools Friday morning and will speak at the American Legion weekly luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel.

Quaker Oats "stands by" you through the morning

That's why millions start their days in this way

TO feel right through the morning, you must have well-balanced, complete food at breakfast. At most other meals—that is, at luncheon and at dinner—you usually get that kind of food.

But at breakfast the great dietary mistake is most often made—a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder; 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxative seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Food that should start every breakfast in your home.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. That's faster than plain toast. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers.

Next week the mayor's committee and the finance committee of the veterans' organization will start a city-wide canvass for a budget of $35,000. The personal solicitation campaign will be conducted the week of April 5 and will be in charge of civic leaders. The convention dates are June 21-28.

$18,099,924 INCOME OF STATE IN 1925

While total receipts for the state of Georgia during 1925 were $1,334,660 greater than in 1924, total disbursements were $1,170,129 greater for the year, according to the annual report of Comptroller General William A. Wright, made public Monday.

The total moneys paid into the state treasury from all sources in 1925 were $18,099,924, compared to $16,765,284 in 1924. Total disbursements for 1925 were $17,909,604, compared to $16,739,474 in 1924.

Automobile owners paid the greatest sum into the state treasury, the aggregate of gasoline and motor vehicle taxes being nearly $8,000,000, the report shows. Gasoline taxes in 1925 paid in $4,082,084, while motor vehicle fees for the same year were $3,010,831. These were the two largest single items. In addition automobile dealers, assembling plants, and others paid other large sums in the form of special taxes.

The general ad valorem taxes of the state for the year 1924 paid in 1925, produced $3,290,375, though ad valorem taxes collected in 1925 including back taxes for several previous years, totaled $4,920,744.

One of the other large sources of revenue in 1925 was the cigar and cigarette stamp tax, which brought in $856,255, compared to $541,240 in 1924.

PRISONER IS KILLED IN LEAP FROM TRAIN ON WAY TO ATLANTA

While he was being brought to Atlanta to complete a term in the federal penitentiary, Roy J. Urdal, of Youngstown, Ohio, was killed when he leaped from the train in an attempt to escape, according to information received Monday by Warden Ohio W. Snook, of the federal prison.

News of the death of Urdal was telegraphed Warden Snook by M. B. Jones, a guard at the prison here, who was sent to Akron to get the prisoner. Urdal was at liberty under a parole, but recently his parole was revoked when he was caught in Akron, Ohio, carrying concealed weapons. He was serving a three-year sentence on a charge of robbery and was paroled in November, 1925.

At the request of the prisoner's mother, the body was ordered shipped to his home at Youngstown, Ohio, by Warden Snook.

METHODISTS IN MIDST OF REVIVAL SERVICES

Methodist pastors, in their regular meeting Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Wesley Memorial church, were enthusiastic over the spirit of revivals now going forward among their respective congregations.

St. Paul Methodist church, the Rev. Wilkie Collins, pastor, reported two immense congregations on Sunday which were addressed by Dr. Charles F. Weigle. At the night service, when he spoke on "The Unpardonable Sin," the crowd overflowed large galleries, and many went forward to the altar. During Sunday over 100 conversions were reported, and a score of accessions to church membership. Many of the conversions were in the Young Men's Wesleyan class, at which Dr. Weigle was the speaker during the Sunday school hour.

Prizes Offered. Evangelist Weigle offered a prize to the largest family present Monday night at "family night" services. Preceding the night service the official board of St. Paul will meet. Evangelist Weigle at an informal luncheon, and Wednesday night will be "St. Paul's Every Member Night."

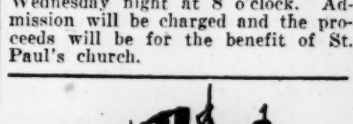

A number of Methodist churches in the city are participating in the simultaneous services under way, while many other churches whose pastors were unable to begin the series Sunday will begin this coming Sunday. The meetings are annual pre-Easter affairs, and this year added interest is attached by reason of the presence of the altar, of prominent out-of-town pastors and evangelists.

Among ministers who will begin revivals March 28 are the Rev. Wallace Rogers, pastor of Trinity church, who will do his own preaching; the Rev. W. J. Culpepper, pastor of Nellie Dodd church, which will continue for two weeks, the pastor doing the preaching, and the singing being led by M. H. Wells; the Rev. Henry B. Mays, pastor of Inman Park church, at which the Rev. G. W. Duvall will preach.

Still other Methodist congregations either are in the midst of a revival or are looking forward to beginning at an early date.

Bethel Choir To Sing.

Big Bethel choir will sing negro spirituals at Eggleston Memorial hall Wednesday night at 8 o'clock. Admission will be charged and the proceeds will be for the benefit of St. Paul's church.

CITY NEAR QUOTA IN EMORY DRIVE

Out-of-town corporations, with branch offices in Atlanta, were asked Monday to subscribe to the $750,000 Emory university expansion campaign now in progress. The requests were made in personal letters from General Chairman H. Y. McCord, Sr. Pending the response from these appeals, the campaign workers continued canvassing Monday in the hope of exceeding the city's quota by the next report meeting, Wednesday noon.

At a meeting of the Decatur campaign workers Monday night, several large subscriptions from that section were announced, including $1,000 from G. F. Willis; $1,000 from an anonymous subscriber; $500 from J. Howell Green, Decatur chairman, and $500 from L. J. Steele.

Several score Emory students, leaders in the successful campus campaign, will join forces with the Atlanta and Decatur workers Tuesday. With these reinforcements, the division chairmen are confident of attaining the $750,000 goal.

SUCCESS OF BONDS BELIEVED CERTAIN

will take place at 12:30 o'clock today, when more than 7,000 Atlanta school children, headed by Mayor Sims, Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, and members of council, march through downtown sections of the city carrying banners, calling on citizens to rally at the polls and cast their ballots for all items included in the West plan. Today will be a big day in the history of the city but Wednesday will be an even bigger one after bonds are carried by the overwhelming vote we anticipate.

Atlanta today is bedecked with large banners across important thoroughfares, calling on citizens to support bonds; street cars, taxicabs, police cars, fire wagons and hundreds of privately owned vehicles, carry "vote for bonds" signs; theaters—12 of them—are running "fillers" asking that Atlantans cast ballots "for progress and prosperity."

Wednesday voters will awake to the shrill of fire and police department sirens and the blast of every whistle within the city limits, calling voters to bestir themselves and get to the polls.

Hundreds Volunteer.

Hundreds have offered the free use of their cars to work in each of the 12 wards of the city on election day, so that every registered voter may have an opportunity to get to the polls. Prominent men and women will spend the day at the ballot boxes and will assist in telephoning all those registered to cast ballots. Members of parent-teacher associations in each ward will supervise the telephone drive.

"It is on this corps of volunteer workers that the future leadership of Atlanta depends," Mayor Sims declared Monday. "Never in Atlanta's history has so much been at stake on any single issue. Citizens realize this and have rallied loyally to the standard of progress. They have pledged their time and energies in conducting the greatest single-day drive ever staged in the city, and I am not concerned over the outcome. This is even more than a city-wide campaign; it will be reflected in increased activity in surrounding sections, and Atlanta will reap the golden harvest which is sure to follow this intensive expansive program."

Registration Lists Accepted.

At a short session of city council Monday afternoon official registration lists bearing the names of 8,872 voters were accepted. Others have registered since the lists closed March 13, and

NEGROES INDORSE BOND PROPOSAL AT MASS MEETING

More than 500 Atlanta negroes indorsed the proposed city bond issue Monday night at a mass meeting at Big Bethel A. M. E. church. Only one dissenting vote was cast against the proposal.

A number of speakers, including Rev. T. James Barrett, B. J. Davis, A. P. Walden, H. D. Cannady, Sr., Rev. E. P. Johnson and Howard W. Russell, spoke in favor of bonds. A. Graves was the only speaker who disapproved the West plan.

Speakers went into detail as to the reasons why the issue should be voted and explained how bond money would be used in various city improvements.

BELLED BUZZARD ONCE AGAIN SEEN FLYING OVER STATE

Sandersville, Ga., March 22.—(Special.)—Two Sandersville citizens today exploded the myth about the famed belled buzzard of Georgia. John J. Lovett, white, on a visit to his chicken ranch, heard a faint tinkling bell overhead.

Knowing the war was over and the hunting season past, he was wondering for a moment if a stray bullet was singing over his head. Glancing heavenward he observed a large buzzard flapping its wings as it wound its way homeward to roost, and distinctly heard the tinkling of a bell.

A few minutes later the buzzard flew over the abattoir one mile north of the city, where J. B. Shurling was slaughtering hives. Mr. Shurling heard something tinkling overhead, and on looking up he, too, observed the bird as it came to a near-by tree. He watched the buzzard closely, and as it landed he could plainly hear the bell ring violently as the bird suddenly stopped in its flight.

And now it is known that Georgia has a famed belled buzzard for a fact.

they will be permitted to vote when they present certificates of registration which have been supplied by Walter C. Taylor, city clerk and registrar.

Unanimous approval of all items included on the bond program was given Monday at meetings held at Spring Street school, Greenwood school and English Avenue school. Speakers at these sessions included Robert Troutman, Mr. Hartsfield, W. A. Hansell, Professor Sutton and Councilman Harry York.

The only problem which faced campaign directors Monday was that of getting a majority of the registered voters to the polls. It was announced:

"We feel sure that two-thirds of all those casting ballots will vote for all projects included in the list," Mr. Hartsfield said, "but the last election was lost on account of the lack of about 800 votes needed to make up a majority of registered voters. Atlanta must not let this guarantee of progress and her future growth pass on account of this. I appeal to all those who have registered to go to the polls and vote Wednesday. Failure to do this is a vote against the entire issue just as much as if the voter went to the ballot box and voted against every item on the list."

What Bonds Are For.

Allocation of the bonds as approved by city council follows: Schools and school equipment, $3,500,000; sewers, $2,000,000; waterworks improvements, $500,000; city's part of the proposed viaducts spanning Pryor street and Central avenue crossings, $1,000,000, and the new city hall, $1,000,000.

The whirlwind speakers' drive for passage of the West plan will end today with the following addresses: Davis Street school, 8 p. m.; speakers, Harry York and J. O. Wood; Peoples Street school, 3 p. m.; speakers, Richard C. Shoup and Luther Still; Stewart Avenue school, 2:30 p. m.; speakers, Roy Booker and Harry York; Moreland Avenue school, 2:45 p. m.; speakers, Judge M. M. Holloway and Miss Mary Postell.

Scenes Upon Arrival of 'Macy Special' With Cargo of Valuable Parisian Gowns

Upper photograph shows the giant Sikorsky plane, the largest passenger plane in America, upon its arrival Sunday at Candler field with a valuable cargo of the latest Parisian gowns and women's finery for Davidson-Paxon-Stokes company, affiliated with R. H. Macy & Co., of New York. The shipment by air was the first ever attempted between New York and Atlanta. At lower left, the unloading of the finery is under way. The group includes Captain Roscoe Turner, pilot; W. S. Cantrell, R. A. Kline, vice president of the Macy company, W. J. Brunmark and Paul H. Franke. At lower right is an interior view of the big plane showing the luxurious appointments and beauty of the ship.

The valued cargo of feminine finery direct from Paris, speeded to Atlanta from New York in the huge "Macy special" passenger plane, the largest in America, was displayed to hundreds of women Monday at a fashion show at Davidson-Paxon-Stokes company, affiliated with the R. H. Macy company.

After nine hours' flying time the plane landed Sunday at Candler field, and early Monday crowds of fashion followers thronged the store to see the latest styles from the world's fashion center. Several models were placed in display windows, and these also caused much comment.

Frocks created by famed Parisian designers, such as Vionnet, Jean Patou, Marcelle, Molyneux and others were included in the shipment. Millinery features were not overlooked, for each dress was matched with hats with a touch of individuality. Scores of beautiful dresses were shown interested women, worn by pretty mannikins.

Evening dresses came in for a share of attention, as did models for sport wear. The models were received in New York as late as last Wednesday, but Captain Roscoe Turner, who piloted the plane, was delayed on his trip. He started from Roosevelt school, Mineola, N. Y., in the big Sikorsky plane, and nearing Washington motor trouble forced a landing. Taking off again, the radiator sprang a leak.

After repairs, he proceeded to Fayetteville, N. C., and Sunday made the remainder of the trip.

The creations were never taken from their boxes from the time they left Paris until they were received at the local store, officials said.

BENTLEY OUTLINES COUNTY RACE ISSUES

Ernest G. Bentley, prominent Atlanta attorney and former member of the legislature, who is a candidate for county commissioner for the county at large, Monday outlined what he considered to be issues in the present race for county commissioner in a statement to The Atlanta Constitution.

"It is the honest opinion of the people of this county and myself that there should be a general equalizing and readjustment of the salaries that are now paid to county officials," he declared. "The salary system was voted in order that this county might reduce the large incomes of certain of the courthouse officeholders and that a large percentage of the money collected by these officials and formerly allowed them as fees should go to the county for other general purposes."

Mr. Bentley as a representative together with other members of the legislature went before the grand jury and discussed the question of changing from the fee system to the salary system, which terminated in abolishment of the fee system in the county.

He advocated a rearrangement of the fee system or a splitting of fees between the officeholder and the county over and above a certain minimum, which he declared "would tend to keep down the expenses of maintaining the various offices and yet keep up the efficiency of the offices."

"I anticipated that if there was more money received by the various offices under the salary system than was necessary for their maintenance, salaries would be raised and more help employed until the money was used up."

"If elected I hope to be able to adjust this problem. I do not expect any assistance from officeholders in the courthouse. They will, from political necessity, support some one who promises to leave their salaries as they are or increase them. There is propaganda in the county at large, put out by people who are vitally interested, centering upon two men who can be counted upon to back up the present arrangement."

"Poison has been put out that I intend to reduce the men who are now making a decent salary commensurate with their employment. This is done to 'muddy' the issue. It will be my effort to help the 'little' fellow."

"My friendship to organized labor has been proven. The Legislative Committee of Labor who attended the meeting of the Legislature when I was there will attest this fact."

"My ambition is to assist the poorly paid school teacher and to force the building of better school houses."

"At least, I have fought the fight for the protection of public moneys. The publicity given this attack against the 'Court House Ring' will make it possible for me to carry out my original plans for reduction of the 'fat' salaries."

"I assume that all the men who have been excused from duty by the 'bosses' at the Courthouse will again use the county automobiles, the county gasoline and the county time to work for the two 'Ring Candidates' on election day."

"A vote for me means more public service and less attention to 'private' affairs; more public roads and less private development."

ERNEST G. BENTLEY.

Candidate for County Commissioner.

Speaking for The Silent Partner— MONEY

LOOK into any industry. Wherever you find crops growing, raw materials being transported, mills running, you will find capital actively at work. Money, the silent partner of all industry, works a 24-hour shift.

Some of the need for money in any given industry is seasonal. It is the business of banks to provide the money where it is needed, when it is needed.

In Georgia, many industries of a widely diversified character look to The Citizens and Southern Bank for their necessary loans, with the assurance that when the requirements of sound banking entitle them to financial assistance, it will be forthcoming.

Public Hearings Ordered By Senate on 5 Measures To Modify Volstead Law

Arguments on Bills Will Be Heard for Twelve
Days by Congressional Committee.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—The prohibition issue, which has agitated both houses of congress at this session, is to be given a public airing before a senate committee during the two weeks beginning April 5. This was determined upon today by the senate judiciary committee, which approved with but a single dissenting vote the program recommended by its subcommittee of five for hearings on the pending measures for modification of the dry laws.

Senator Means, republican, Colorado, will have charge of the hearings and he will attempt to hold both the wet and dry sides strictly to the subject of the bills at issue. Each side will have six days for presentation of its case, with the wet taking the first.

Measures To Be Heard.

The first measure that will be considered will be that by Senator Bruce, Maryland, proposing to change the 18th amendment so that those states and communities which were wet when the dry law went into effect again would be wet, but would have to depend upon the federal government for their limited supplies of intoxicants. Then the beer bill and the Edge measure to remove the restrictions on prescription whisky will have their hearings. There are three beer bills proposing 4 per cent, 2.5 per cent and beer "non-intoxicating in fact." Senator Edwards, democrat, New Jersey, is author of the first and Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, sponsors the others two.

Wet leaders have no hope that the committee will report any of the bills favorably. They asked for the hearings, they explained, so congress could elicit officially the opinions of enforcement officers, educators, ministers and others as to how the dry laws should be amended so as to make their enforcement less difficult.

LOYLESS FUNERAL

HELD WEDNESDAY

Macon, Ga., March 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Georgia journalism today mourned the passing of perhaps one of her most brilliant editors, the death yesterday in Philadelphia of Thomas W. Loyless in his 56th year, following a lingering illness from organic trouble. Funeral services will be conducted here Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from Saint Joseph's Catholic church. The body will arrive here on a special car on the Southern railway tomorrow night.

The pallbearers will be men who had been closely associated with Mr. Loyless during his life, as follows: Lew J. Kilburn, Atlanta; Charles J. Bayne, R. L. McKenney, T. E. Billings, P. T. Anderson and W. T. Anderson.

At different times in his career, which was marked with many interesting incidents, Mr. Loyless had been identified with the Dawson News, Macon News and Macon Telegraph in reportorial duties, had been publisher and owner of the Augusta Chronicle, editor of the Columbus Enquirer-Sun, editorial writer on the Atlanta Constitution and editorial paragrapher on the Atlanta Journal. His most recent writing had been for the Macon Telegraph for which paper he conducted an independent column, writing free lance, but which he was forced to relinquish because of his ill health.

Several months ago when his health became such that he could no longer engage in his profession, Mr. Loyless went to Philadelphia to star with his son-in-law, Patrick H. Mell. For a while it was believed the editor had shown improvement, and would soon be "back in harness," but he suffered a relapse, and yesterday signed "30"—the newspaper man's definition for the ending of the day's work.

new plan, they pointed out. Under the change, 120 players will be qualified this year at the sectional offices as against 96 last season, and to these will be added the first thirty to finish in the 1925 final, members of the Walker cup team, and foreign players.

Courses for the sectional tournaments and qualification plans for the amateur championship will be decided at a meeting of the executive committee here next month, when restoration of the amateur qualifying field to 32 players will be considered. Reduction in the number of qualifiers to 16 last year eliminated many of the stars of former title tournaments.

Sectional events for the open tournament will be staged in or near New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Atlanta, Richmond, San Francisco, Portland, Oregon and San Antonio, Texas, among other cities.

TOURNEY SCHEDULED

FOR EAST LAKE CLUB

The Atlanta tournament will be played on the East Lake Country club links. It was announced Monday night by Thomas B. Paine, a member of the executive committee of the United States Golf association. The date has not been decided definitely, but the play probably will be held late in June or early in July, as the national open at the Seaside club at Columbus, Ohio, is set for the second week of July.

Under the rules, Bobby Jones, runner-up last year, will be exempt.

COURTHOUSE RING HAS ORGANIZED

"Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here"

This should have been the music played when the Courthouse Ring gathered to do honor to their proven friends, Paul S. Ethridge and Charles G. Turner, at their joint meeting at the Ansley Roof Garden on Monday afternoon last.

"Boss" Luther Rosser, the quiet, shrewd Judge Puckett and the wily and wideawake Walker Lee were among those convened to pay homage to the men who have made their Courthouse jobs fat and easy.

"Paul" helped "Charlie." "Charlie" helped "Paul" and the Handsome Edwin Johnson helped them both.

"Jake" Jacobs spoke very favorably for Paul Ethridge there and at College Park, too. "Paul" thinks "Jake" can be useful to him.

The Courthouse Ring showed its gratitude for the present high "salaries" and were happy in the joyous expectancy of another "hike" in salaries soon to be had.

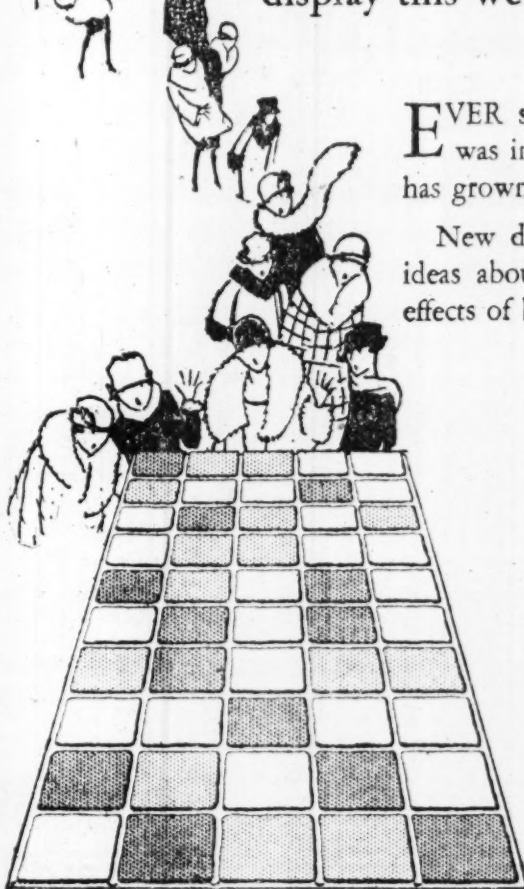

"Patting" on the back and organizing was the order of the day.

If you voters of Fulton County want this foolish "extravagance" of high salaries to be adjusted, vote for men who have not pledged to save the "Old Courthouse Guard."

"But—they are ALL so pretty!"

Any one of the new patterns of Armstrong's Linoleum is worth a trip to the store to see. They are on display this week.

Above—Armstrong's Embossed Handcraft Tile Inlaid—Tiles of similar color not too monotonously matched... these tiles stand upraised... possessing what architects call "texture."

A FREE Book—"The Attractive Home—How to Plan Its Decoration"

HAZEL DELL BROWN, who has given personal help to the thousands of women who sought her advice in planning interiors, has outlined in this 24-page book a simple method of planning home decoration. It contains photographs of model interiors and color reproductions of many new linoleum patterns. Sent upon receipt of a postal bearing your name and address.

EVER since Armstrong's Jaspé Linoleum was introduced ten years ago, linoleum has grown prettier and prettier.

New designs by Armstrong have swept away old ideas about linoleum. New blendings of colors, new effects of beauty have caught the eyes of decorators and captured the interest of architects.

Embossed Handcraft Tile Inlaid the latest Armstrong achievement in linoleum

Here is a linoleum possessing what the architects call "texture." There are tiles of similar color not too monotonously matched—a free pattern with no repeat that catches the eye—and these tiles stand upraised beside the neutral-toned interliners that frame them. Designs with heraldic motifs are spotted here and there as if by the pleasant whim of a master tiler. Truly a sensation in linoleum-making.

New beauty added—old virtues unchanged

The old virtues of linoleum—the ease with which it can be cleaned, the years and years that it will last if properly laid (cemented, not tacked) and occasionally waxed—are all part of these modern floor designs.

Superior designs and colors in Armstrong's Printed Linoleum

It is not alone in the fine inlaid that Armstrong has broken away from tradition and startled the eye with new linoleum beauty. On printed linoleum, the name Armstrong and the Circle A trade-mark also stand for tasteful design, happy combinations of color, and accurate register of line and tone. The superior heavy linseed oil paints used in printing mean longer wear. Any of these printed patterns will give astonishing wear if the surface is protected by an occasional coat of clear varnish. You are offered, not a few, but over eighty patterns in Armstrong's Printed Linoleum—all most moderately priced.

Linoleum Rugs

Sizes 6 x 9 feet to 12 x 15 feet

Pretty rugs, cheerful and bright, but never gaudy—they have the durability of linoleum because they are genuine linoleum.

They are more than linoleum. They are Armstrong's Linoleum—a difference good stores know and careful shoppers appreciate.

AGNES SCOTT GETS HONORARY FRATERNITY

Exercises at the installation of a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity, at Agnes Scott college, will be held this afternoon with Dr. Oscar M. Voorhees, secretary of the national chapter, present, and with prominent men and women members from all parts of the state participating. The installation exercises will be private and will be attended only by members of the society, but public exercises will be held at the college tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Voorhees was the principal speaker at a dinner given in his honor Monday night at the Piedmont Driving Club. Dudley R. McChesney, president of Agnes Scott college; Harold Hirsch, Atlanta attorney; Miss Rhoda Kaufman, head of the state board of public welfare; and Dr. Plato Durham, of the Emory university faculty.

In discussing conditions in American universities and colleges, Dr. Voorhees declared there are more serious conditions than ever before in their history. He said there is a great "go-to-college" movement in progress now, and more students in college than ever before in the history of the country.

No Fear of Jinx, Haas Is Decorated For 13th Birthday

No dread of fear of the so-called unlucky 13, a superstitious jinx, remains in the mind of Marcus L. Haas, young son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Arthur Haas, of 74 Briarcliff road, who will celebrate his thirteenth birthday today decorated with an Eagle Scout badge he received Monday night from the fourth division of the court of honor of the Atlanta Boy Scout council held in the H. B. Christiansen room at the court house.

Scout Haas is a member of troop 28 and one of the youngest members of any troop in Atlanta to receive Eagle Scout honors. He is a student in the eighth grade of the Bass Junior High school and stands well in his classes.

Young Haas, who has an older brother who is also an Eagle Scout, joined troop 28 in March of last year but because of being away from Atlanta two months last summer he did not qualify as a first class scout until September, 1925. Since being made a first class scout young Haas has received merit badges in 21 different subjects.

Why have BOILS?

Boils and pure, rich, red blood never go together. They simply won't mix, any more than oil and water. Healthy blood dries these pests right up! That's the reason S. S. S. drives agonizing boils completely out of the system. There's not a chance for a boil, or any other breaking out on the skin, when pure blood, full of red cells is rushing through your system.

And that's what S. S. S. does. Builds up the red blood. The red blood-cells by the millions back in the system. S. S. S. makes the blood so strong in healthy, red blood-cells that painful, torturous boils—disfiguring pimples, blackheads and blotches—itching, burning eczema and rashes and other embarrassing skin eruptions simply get out.

It's a fact, S. S. S. has been doing this very thing for 100 years. You can get S. S. S. from any druggist. So, why have boils? Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Be sure to get real Resinol

If you want to get rid of eczema, pimples or some other distressing skin eruption, insist upon obtaining Resinol Ointment in the original package. It is put up in ointment jars, two sizes only—3 1/2 oz. and 1 1/2 oz. Preparations similar in name or appearance and those offered as or for Resinol are not "just the same as Resinol." Many of them have little healing power, and may even be dangerous to use.

Resinol is never sold in bulk

SEVEN SEEK TWO COMMISSION POSTS

Managers, clerks and others have been selected to handle the balloting in the various precincts by the Fulton county democratic executive committee and everything is in readiness for the election.

Polls in Adamsville, Blackhall, Bryant's, Edgewood, Oak Grove, Peachtree and Pools districts will open at 7 o'clock and close at 3 o'clock. Polling places in the city are located at places named in The Constitution last Sunday.

Terms of County Commissioners Virgil B. Moore and Paul S. Etheridge expire at the close of the year. Mr. Moore is not a candidate to succeed himself while Mr. Etheridge is offering for reelection.

MORE FEEDER MAINS NEEDED, SURVEY SHOWS

High praise of the management of the Atlanta waterworks department, under the direction of W. Z. Smith, but a warning that more feeder mains from main pumping stations to heavily populated districts of the city are needed at once, is contained in the report of a special survey conducted by the National Board of Fire Underwriters made public Monday.

The survey was made last October by A. F. Ballou, G. L. Swann and J. H. Arnold, engineers of the national board. It is the first report on fire conditions in Atlanta since 1914.

"Complete corroboration of the Atlanta waterworks report of the urgent need of additional feeder mains to increase water pressure in Atlanta is contained in the report," Claude Ashley, chairman of the water committee of city council, declared. "The $500,000 asked for waterworks improvements in Atlanta in the proposed $8,000,000 bond issue, which Atlanta will vote on Wednesday, will remedy these defects and place Atlanta fire conditions on a decidedly better plane."

L. & N. SHOPMEN REACH AGREEMENT ON WAGE INCREASE

Louisville, March 22.—(AP)—Employees of the Louisville & Nashville railroad shops and Charles F. Giles, superintendent of machinery, have reached a tentative agreement for a wage increase, W. E. Smith, assistant general manager of the railroad said today.

Mr. Giles said he is unable to make an announcement concerning the amount of the increase or when it will become effective. Officials would not state the total amount of the increase nor the number of persons affected.

The L. & N. management also has before it the demand of trainmen and conductors for an increase of approximately $1 a day in wages, the trainmen and conductors of the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railroad made a similar demand.

LUMBERMEN RETURN FROM HOO-HOO MEET

A number of Atlanta lumbermen have returned from Macon where they attended a convention of the order of Hoo-Hoo. The ceremonies were in charge of Vicegerent Snark, T. M. Willingham, of the Central Sash and Door company, Macon, who was assisted by Henry R. Isherwood, national secretary-treasurer of St. Louis and Roy C. Morrison, state counselor, of Atlanta. After a banquet at Hotel Lanier, nine candidates were initiated.

In addition to the national and state officers and a large number of lumbermen from Macon and other cities of south Georgia, the following were present from Atlanta: H. J. West, W. B. Willingham, Jr., Milton Klein and Willingham Smith, Roy C. Morrison, of Atlanta, presided over the meeting.

RAIN TO CONTINUE TODAY, IS FORECAST

WALLACE RETURNED TO FEDERAL PRISON

Bert K. Wallace, federal prisoner who escaped from the Atlanta penitentiary Christmas eve last and was recaptured at Norfolk, is back in prison to complete a three-year sentence following his conviction of violating the Mann act. He has about two more years to serve.

Dorothy: You have to admit that Grace has lots of poise.

Annabelle: Most anybody would, with the clothes she has.

P.S. But Annabelle was quite wrong in crediting Grace with an unlimited supply of gowns. Grace merely sees to it that our dry cleaning keeps everything she has always looking like new.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.
A SURPRISE FOR CELIA.

As no one ever visited the long gallery except the housemaid who cleaned it, and sometimes a man to polish the arms, Hilary was always sure of an undisturbed half hour with Giannini.

He had not told Celia that he was a swordsman. Perhaps his extreme reserve about it came from a fear of being considered romantic; perhaps, also, his distaste for anything romantic came from the subconscious sense of a streak of romanticism in his own nature.

The reason he gave himself was that a hobby to be thoroughly enjoyed must be hidden in secret.

He got into his canvas rig and, whistling softly, took down his light fencing saber from the wall.

A knock came at the door and the Milanese accents of Maestro Giannini asking, "Con permesso?"

They fell at once to ten minutes of exercises before beginning their bout.

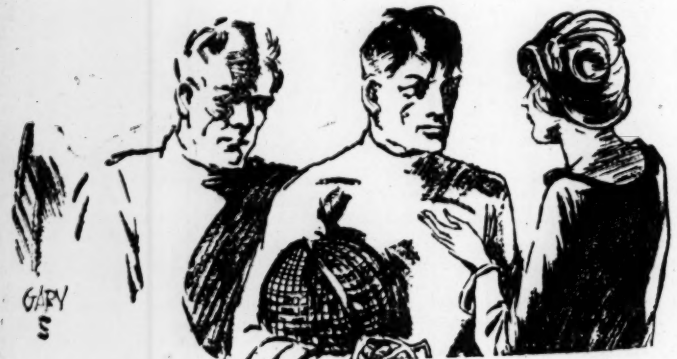

It was on this same Sunday morning that the telephone rang in Celia's bedroom, just as she had finished dressing for a walk. She took up the receiver, and Padraic O'Shea's voice, warm and winning even over the wire, said:

"Good morning to you, Melusine. If you are free I have a lovely, bourgeois project to suggest."

"I'm quite free. What is it?" inquired Celia.

As Padraic had predicted, they had become such good friends that he always called her now Melusine.

"Let us go to the aquarium at the Battery," was his proposal, "and look at the angel fish. . . . We can lunch there. . . . O! deliciously, I know a little place kept by a Syrian. . . . You shall taste a heavenly dish of mutton cooked in leaves. . . ."

"Why have you never told me about your fencing?" asked she.

"What sort of leaves?" asked Celia, and she laughed. She often laughed now when Padraic talked to her.

"I don't know," said he, "but they aren't lettuce leaves. . . . something rather thick and bitey. . . . You'll adore them."

"How shall we go?" Will you come here to fetch me, or shall I pick you up on the way?"

"Let us go by the 'L,' like all the plebs."

Celia agreed and rang off, but she did not share Padraic's pleasure in watching the mob at play. To go on the "L," even on a week day, made her rather discontented with being a human creature. She felt that it would be so much more dignified to be a lion or even a zebra.

It was well on into April now, and she recalled her depression of last Sunday, when he had coaxed her to go with him on an excursion to Staten Island. The day had been very warm, and Padraic full of glee in watching the way of factory men with factory maids, but somehow the whole thing had made her sad.

These girls all wore thin silk stockings, no matter how coarse their frocks. The men wore short, tight coats and buttonlike straw hats. The etiquette on such occasions, she found, was for the escort to take out a package of chewing gum, and, after offering a piece to his companion, put another piece into his own mouth. Then, handing her his hat, settle down comfortably with his head on her shoulder, while she fanned him with the hat. . . . The faces were mostly thin and tired or fat and sensual. Such joviality as they had was painful to her. She determined to persuade Padraic to take a taxi to the Battery. . . .

She was on her way downstairs when she remembered she must tell Hilary she wouldn't be home for luncheon.

Not finding him in the library, she spoke to Donovan, who had followed her with a light wrap, asking if he had gone out.

"No, miss," answered Donovan, "he's up in the long gallery with an Eye-talian."

Celia didn't wait for a footman, but shot herself up to the fifth story in the little lift.

When she reached the door of the gallery she was surprised to hear a metallic, clinking noise on the other side, and the light, subdued stamping of feet.

As she was always welcome to approach Hilary, she did not knock, and, opening the door, had before her a sight which still further surprised her.

Two figures, one tall, one less tall, both in strange white clothes and wearing extraordinary things like wire and leather helmets on their heads, were darting forward, then back, facing each other with drawn swords. As she gazed one cried "Toccato!" and stood still, letting his blade fall to rest, point down. He added, still in Italian, which Celia read and spoke quite well:

"Aie!" I grow old. . . . You are now my maestro!"

The other exclaimed protestingly, "Simagine!" and was about to add more, when, turning his masked face, he caught sight of Celia and stiffened where he stood, exactly like a pointer at sight of a partridge. Then, removing his helmet, he came toward her, and she saw that it was Hilary, an entirely different Hilary from the one she had always known. He was flushed, his dripping hair rumpled by the mask, looked more like a black silk than a black velvet cap; and he was without doubt much embarrassed.

"Can I do anything for you, Celia?" he asked, breathing quickly. He had had to work unusually hard to make such a swordsman as Maestro Giannini cry "Toccato!"

Before she could answer he introduced them: "This is the celebrated Maestro Giannini, Celia. . . . My wife, Maestro."

"How do you do, Maestro?" said Celia, holding out her hand.

He bowed low over it, tucking his great round head between his massive shoulders in homage. A huge man, though not so tall as Hilary, built something on the lines of the Farnese Hercules.

"I tell to him he is the maestro, signora!" cried he, coming up from his diving bow more red in the face than ever. . . . "A god made swordsman is your husband, signora. I, Carlo Giannini, tell it to you!" And he smacked his deep, reverberating chest in emphasis.

"The maestro is the greatest eschmore—the greatest broad sword fencer of Italy. He is also, like all Italians, very polite," said Hilary to Celia, smiling in deprecation of this praise.

"No, no, signora! He is!" persisted Giannini. "Have you not heard me cry 'Toccato!' And I did all my best not to be it. . . . parole d'onore, and again he slapped his mighty chest.

Celia smiled at him vaguely, then turned to Hilary.

"Why have you never told me about your fencing?" asked she.

"Yes, why have you not told the signora, signore?" chimed in the maestro, childishly jealous of the worth of his adored art. "Is it not to be proud to be so fine a swordsman?"

Hilary murmured something about not wanting to swagger.

"What is swagar?" asked the maestro suspiciously.

"He only means he didn't want to boast, maestro," soothed Celia.

"I am proud to know he is such a good swordsman. It must be one of the finest things in the world."

"Ah, signora!" exclaimed the maestro with shining eyes, "I am again 'toccato,' but this time in the heart!"

And once more he made her his diving bow.

When he had gone, which he did shortly, Celia still lingered. Her glance kept stealing again to this brand new Hilary.

"I should like to learn how to fence," she said.

"Good!" exclaimed Hilary. "But saber fencing is too violent for a woman. You must learn with rapiers. . . . I'm tolerably good at that, too. I will teach you myself. . . . when I've finished this damned book," he ended with sudden gloom.

Girls From Tallulah Score In Play at Woman's Club

The Atlanta Woman's club brought much pleasure to the clubwomen at the regular meeting of the club presented the delightful little play, "Organizing a Mountain Club," with the lovely students of the splendid mountain school at Tallulah Falls as participants in the play.

Miss Beulah Bowers, as president of the Mountain club, was especially good in her impersonation of a leader in club activities and in unique burlesque brought out the amusing points of a woman's club.

One of the most interesting features of the mountain club's work was the nominating of Georgia clubwomen to fill international offices. Among others nominated were Mrs. Norman Sharp, as president of the nation; Mrs. Price-Smith, at attorney general; Mrs. James R. Little, treasurer; and Mrs. Newton Wing as home director. When the club came to the nomination of their best friend and benefactor, Mrs. John K. Otley, they could not give her up to a broader field, even in a joke, so nominated her as their chairman for all time.

Miss Eula Barron was quite an interesting character in the delegats to represent the Mountain club at a convention in Atlanta, as she stood and allowed each member to assist her in her wardrobe by the loan of a hat here and a pin there, until she became the most fascinating and best dressed lady in the organization.

Delightful Reception. Following the play the young ladies were entertained at a delightful

THE BRITISH, HAVING FAILED TO CONQUER THE NORTHERN STATES, TURNED THEIR ATTENTION TO THE SOUTH. THE FIRST BLOW WAS STRUCK AT SAVANNAH WHICH WAS TAKEN BY GENERAL CLINTON IN DECEMBER 1778. AUGUSTA SOON FELL AND THE REDCOATS PROCEEDED TO SUBDUCE ALL OF GEORGIA.

SLAMS CALAAMS AND LOUISE DOOLY

WHERE but in the observations of a man have we found the strongest backing for our recent feminist outburst, in which we tried to set forth some of the feeling of the average male against the feminist movement itself, especially as it is advancing women upon the world of business and the professions?

The feeling is seldom confessed even by most men who hold it. Unacknowledged to themselves in many cases. Vigorously denied in its theory. But just get them down to a little cross-examination, and what do you find? That they are quite willing for women to work in the groups of the employed—but "when it comes to executive positions, of course there are a few exceptional women who are showing some ability, but women are not to be taken seriously."

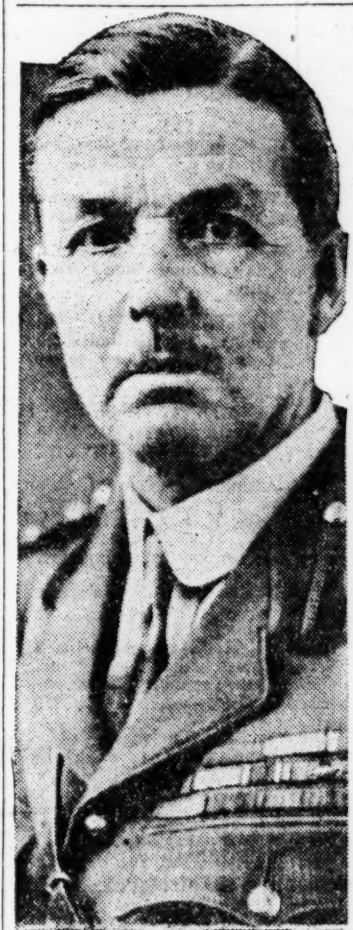

Mrs. Sharp announced the following new members accepted into the club: Mrs. Fred W. Bull, Mrs. Lester W. Coffin, Mrs. C. J. Hollingsworth, Mrs. William L. Barrow, Mrs. Smith also announced the club membership campaign and told of the magnificent gift of Ben T. Reed to Tallulah Falls school, while she was taking subscriptions from club members of this section.

Mrs. Sharp announced an invitation from Colonel William L. Peel, president of the Municipal Market company, to the members and guests of the club, to visit the market and see the fresh spring supply of farm products. The guests from Tallulah Falls were entertained at dinner Monday evening by the management of the Ansley Hotel. Others attending the dinner were Mrs. Norman Sharp, Mrs. John R. Hornady and Mrs. James T. Williams.

BRITISH MILITARY ATTACHE IN CITY

Colonel C. E. C. Graham Charlton, of the British royal artillery, world war hero, one of the most conspicuous figures in the English army for the past several years and at present military attaché to the British em-lassy at Washington, arrived in Atlanta Monday on a tour of inspection of important military posts of the United States army of the southeast.

COLONEL C. E. C. GRAHAM CHARLTON.

Colonel Charlton is accompanied by Mrs. Charlton and they are guests of former Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton while here. They leave Wednesday for Chattanooga, Tenn. While in the city they are being feted at a number of social affairs, and Monday night were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Kay, British consul.

The British army officer Monday inspected Fort McPherson as the guest of Brigadier General LeRoy Eltinge, under courtesy exchanges which the British and American governments foster.

During the world war Colonel Charlton served as brigadier general, commanding an artillery brigade on the western front. He has served in the British army for about thirty years and has been assigned to posts in India, Egypt and the Sudan and other British colonies in many parts of the world. He has been given many of the highest awards of several countries.

"This is my first trip to Atlanta," Colonel Charlton said, "and I am agreeably surprised to find such a large city this far south. I know Atlanta is a regular big city and ranks with the most progressive in any section of the country."

"I am glad to be here. Southern hospitality has been sung to me for many years, but I am now overwhelmed with it. You southerners spoil us and make us want to stay," he added.

Colonel Charlton was reduced in grade following the close of the great war, as many American army officers were, and was assigned to the British embassy at Washington about three years ago.

He will return to Washington in about a week.

Colonel and Mrs. Charlton have two children—a daughter, Xyone Moyne Charlton, who is attending school in Washington, and a son, Wingate Richard Charlton, who is in school in England.

LEGAL SPECTER SOON TO INVADE SUPREME COURT

Terrifying legal difficulties of a "specter mortgage" will ultimately invade the state supreme court for adjudication, it was announced Monday following appearance of this specter at law in Judge E. D. Thomas' court.

The case was a friendly suit between Mrs. Grace Macy, of 792 Piedmont avenue, and her sister, Mrs. William Henry Macy, of New York city, with said "specter mortgage" playing the leading role. Judge Thomas decided the "specter" was a perfectly legal personality, so Mrs. Macy will seek its dissolution in a higher court.

Mrs. Macy, who has been trustee for the Macy family, claims that the mortgage is valid, and declines to surrender her rights as trustee. Mrs. Macy contends that inasmuch as the mortgage is on the Macy Court apartments, which she bought back from the children in 1922, the document is no longer valid.

"Hot diggity-dog," ejaculated Claude of the Red Hot Fire restaurant. "Look how much fatter Blodde has grown since she went to Florida. 'Eh-eh-eh' responded Heloise, the bar waitress. "They say travel broadens one."—Kansas City Star.

Things are rather well balanced; and if a man hasn't much of anything he probably stays full of enthusiasm.—Los Angeles Times.

E. U. Burnett, 23, of 595 Edgewood avenue, one of the two men who were attacked with knives by unidentified negro men near Auburn avenue and Jackson street Sunday night, was dismissed from Grady hospital Monday, while physicians reported that his companion, Jeff Smith, 22, of 704 DeKalb avenue, was in a serious condition.

VOTERS IN SOUTH DAKOTA TO SELECT G. O. P. CANDIDATES

Pierre, S. D., March 22.—(AP)—South Dakota republicans will choose candidates for United States senator and governor tomorrow, and the democrats will select a candidate for governor in the first primary election in the state this spring.

Because the republican party normally is dominant, interest in the election centers in the race between Senator Peter Norbeck and George J. Danforth, Sioux Falls attorney, for the senatorial nomination, and between Governor Carl Gunderson and C. E. Coyne, secretary of state, for the governorship.

Democrats will choose between W. J. Bulow, of Beresford, the proposal meeting choice, and O. O. Richards, father of the state primary law.

New York, March 22.—(P)—The cotton market was steady today. July contracts selling up from 18.04 to 18.20 and closing at 18.22, compared with 18.11 at the close Saturday. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 11 to 14 points.

The opening was steady, a decline of 2 to 6 points in response to lower Liverpool cables, southern and local selling which was probably inspired by reports of a disappointing trade in the cotton goods market and reiterated complaints of poor spot demand.

Initial offers were soon absorbed and the market turned steady on covering by recent sellers and foreign trade buying of the new crop month.

In the late afternoon there appeared to be a broadening demand from Wall Street sources, which may have been promoted by the better tone reported in the late stock market.

Sentiment also appeared to be influenced by the failure of Saturday's big plunging figures to bring in more selling pressure. Some of the local brokers commented upon this as an indication that bearish old crop statistics had been discounted, and buying tonight theory was said to be encouraged by nervousness over the new crop start.

The unsettled weather reported in the belt came in for considerable comment in that connection, although some traders considered it too early in the season for any anxiety over possible delays in farm work. Another factor discussed on the late advance was a possibility that the official report on boll weevil survival expected before the end of the week might make an unfavorable showing.

Liverpool cables reported hedge selling and liquidation due partly to the gaining figures of Saturday and to a continued indifference demand for cotton goods in Lancashire. May sold here at 18.78 and October at 17.47, and the close was within 5 or 6 points of the best.

Exports today, 20,536, making 6,396,196 so far this season. Foreign receipts, 18,547. United States port stocks, 1,204,142.

MARKET QUIET AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, March 22.—(P)—The cotton market was quiet most of the session, although there was a brief spurt of activity near the close. Despite unfavorable Liverpool advices, the market opened steady and during the morning advanced 11 to 12 points over the previous close on buying and covering due mainly to the unfavorable weather in the belt over crop preparations are already beginning.

After a moderate recession early in the afternoon the market rallied again in the last half hour of trading, making new highs 16 to 18 points above the early lows. The close was steady, showing net gains for the day of 12 to 13 points, new crop months advancing most.

At the start Liverpool was much lower than the market here, which opened 2 to 4 points up and after a slight recession rallied after the call to 17.88 for May, 17.48 for July and 16.83 for October, which proved to be the low of the day, the market began to rally. By the middle of the morning May had advanced to 16.95, or 11 to 12 points from the lows.

During the early afternoon prices reacted slightly on realizing, but in the late trading prices firmed up again on buying based on further rains in the central belt, and all months made new highs at 18.05 for May, 17.04 for July and 17.01 for October, or 16 to 18 points above Saturday's close. The close was within a few points of the best.
